UNISTRA	French Language acquisition: French as a foreign language / French for University purposes B1	The Department of Language Didactics is offering two courses in French as a foreign language for two levels B1 and B2. The class meets once a week from the 14 of February 2022. While the distance learning is completely synchronous, the online tutoring services are either synchronous or asynchronous. For the students wishing to go further, the two courses also offer tools for independent learning. The content of the courses is based on "French for university purposes" in order to allow students to learn more about the functioning of the French university, to prepare for the exams required for university entrance, and to acquire the cultural and methodological skills necessary for successful integration into the university of their choice. In a true action-oriented approach, the course draws its themes from the city of Strasbourg and its university. Indeed, the content will focus on how to apply to university programs (how to complete an application, how to fill in social security documents, housing, eating, documentary research, etc). Students will also discover the French university system (LMD system, calendar, grading, equivalences...). Some other useful academics will be introduced: oral and written methodology, note-taking, thesis writing, speaking, lecturing, conducting a presentation, distinguishing between different types of academic work and understanding instructions and statements. The four language skills (written comprehension, oral comprehension, written production and oral production) will be studied. This course will allow the students to better understand teacher-student relations in France and student life services to successfully complete a French university programs.	French	15 February 2022	17 May 2022	25

EPICUR (AUTH; AMU; UNISTRA; UvA)	Modern Greek Language and Culture A1/A2	The Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan, the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, the University of Strasbourg, and the University of Amsterdam are launching a new collaborative course on Modern Greek Language and Culture. The course addresses students of levels A1/A2 who wish not only to develop their communicative skills in Greek but also to enrich their intercultural competence by 'immersing' in the Greek culture. This is an online course which will provide students with the opportunity to participate in virtual trips and guided tours in Greece and by doing so to practice and develop their language skills in Greece. The faculties of Modern Greek in the four EPICUR universities have a rich instructional experience in teaching learners of Greek as a second or foreign language and students will experience a unique approach to the instruction of Greek that will combine language and cultural immersion. The course is addressed to students of all EPICUR Alliance universities. The languages of instruction: Modern Greek & English.	English & Modern Greek	Mid february 2022	Duration 13 weeks	15
